199 Seniors to be Graduated At Reilly Stadium Thursday

A class of 199 seniors, the same as last year, will receive diplomas at Salem High School commencement exercises Thursday evening at Reilly Stadium.

Actually, the class comprises nine other seniors who lack a half-credit for graduation but who will receive diplomas in lieu of summer school work, Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr said.

He added that the class is the second largest in the school's history.

Presentation of diplomas will be made by Alfred L. Fitch, president of the Board of Education which last night approved the list of graduates.

The commencement speakers will be two seniors, Diana Crow-

House Passes Space Measure

Bill To Form Agency Is Sent to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Passed unanimously by the House, a bill to create a civilian space agency moved today toward prompt consideration in the Senate.

The Senate Space Committee under Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) planned to start closed-session work on the legislation by the end of the week.

Along with it, the House sent a strong call for international cooperation in the peaceful exploration of space.

President Eisenhower urgently asked Congress for the bill two months ago. He said a new agency to direct America's nonmilitary space activities is needed to make the most of U.S. efforts.

As passed by voice vote in the House Monday, the measure generally follows the Eisenhower plan.

The new National Aeronautics and Space Administration would be headed by a $22,500-a-year civilian. It would absorb the long-established National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, an air flight research agency.

Lines of cooperation between NASA and the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission would be set up through liaison committees. Unresolved disputes over who should handle space projects would be settled by the President.

Left in the bill without opposition was a precedent-setting anti-secrecy provision saying NASA must make its nonsecurity information available to the public.

3,965 School Pupils Listed In District

According to C. D. Phillips, child accounting officer, the survey of the Salem school district conducted each year in May, reveals that the total number of school children in the district stands at 3,965 as compared to 3,760 last year.

Due to considerable moving in the spring, and many families being absent at the time their homes were contacted, Mr. Phillips said there is a possibility of some having been missed in the survey.

Mr. Phillips asks that anyone having a child who will enter school for the first time, and who has not received a pre-school health form, to call the nurse's office in the high school, ED 2-4726, or the attendance office, ED 7-9453. This also applies to anyone else, such as families new in the district, who desire information concerning next year's school term.

A child must be five years of age on or before Sept. 30 to be eligible for kindergarten or six by that date to be eligible for first grade.

Mr. Phillips explained that if the parents have received a pre-school health form, that means the child has been listed, and the principal of the school the child will attend will send the forms and letters explaining registration procedure directly to the home in August.

It is further explained by Mr. Phillips and Supt. E. S. Kerr that the concentration of building in some areas has created an overcrowded condition in certain elementary schools.

The biggest expansion has occurred at Reilly and Prospect Schools. To relieve the crowded conditions, school officials have no choice but to assign most of the Reilly and Prospect bus pupils, with the exception of the sixth grade students, to Fourth S. School.

Desperate Bank Robber Arouses Judge's Pity

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new world of opportunity is dawning for a former taxi driver. It all started when he robbed a bank.

Kenneth St. Onge said he was jobless at the time, and his kids were hungry.

He got $540 in the robbery last March 31, a crime for which he could have been sentenced to 20 years in jail.

But when St. Onge, 35, showed up in court Monday with his wife and sons, Edward, 9; Gary, 8; Van, 7; Guy, 5; Kim, 4; Cal, 3; and Harvey, 18 months the judge placed him on probation for five years.

In refusing to send St. Onge to jail, Judge Thurmond Clarke was motivated by the same feelings of sympathy that have caused hundreds to rally to the bank robber's support. For there is a story behind his brief foray into crime.

St. Onge, a stocky, serious young man with a crew cut and soft blue eyes, told it Monday outside the courtroom.

"It was hard to find a place to live in Detroit with all the kids," said St. Onge, who had lived there all his life. "I got disgusted and said to my wife, 'Come on, let's go to California.'"

That was last September and things turned out even worse when they arrived in Los Angeles.

"For three weeks we slept in our car — a 1947 Studebaker — and ate in a park. Then my wife got a job as a waitress and we moved into a Quonset hut for $25 a week plus utilities. The bill for electricity at the end of two months was $67, and I found out the landlord had another apartment, a trailer and a garage wired on to our place.

"I took care of the kids. Four of them were in school. They all went at different times and took turns wearing one good pair of shoes a neighbor had given us. I spent all day taking them to school and bringing them home and at 4:30 I'd pick up my wife and what she'd made in tips we'd spend on food for dinner.

"I never had any time to look for a job except close by, and I couldn't find anything.

"Then my wife lost her job because she was pregnant and her legs got so she couldn't stand on them. All our money was gone and that night when we put the kids to bed they were crying because they were hungry and I had to do something."

Ike Summons Security Council Nuclear Test Ban Discussion on Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called the National Security Council today for a session which could involve policy preparations for British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's visit here next week.

The French political crisis and possible suspension of U.S. and British nuclear tests are prime topics for the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks, which start next Monday.

The Security Council, the nation's top policy body, normally meets Thursdays. The White House gave no reason for changing the time of its meeting, but there was speculation that its work would be directed toward the Macmillan meeting.

Eisenhower reportedly is being urged by some of his advisers to make at least a tentative decision, before Macmillan's arrival, favoring a two-year suspension of U.S. nuclear tests to be effective after the present series in the Pacific is ended.

Both Secretary of State Dulles and Dr. James R. Killian Jr., Eisenhower's scientific adviser, have recommended such a course. On the other hand, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission has argued for continued testing unless there is broad agreement with the Soviet Union on a disarmament program.

Eisenhower approved in an hour long conference with Dulles a new letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In it he agreed to inclusion of Polish and Czech scientists in proposed scientific talks on ways of supervising any East-West agreement to halt tests. There is no such agreement yet.

The letter probably will be dispatched late this week after clearance with Britain and France and other NATO Allies.

School Board May Build New Road Gradually

Street Decision to Be Reached Monday; Rose Fence Planned

The roadway leading to the gymnasium entrance and parking lot at the new senior high school, in accordance with a suggestion by Mayor Harold Smith, a member of the school board, made when the board met Monday night.

A definite decision is expected to be reached at a special meeting next Monday.

In order to reduce the cost of the road leading to the new school from N. Lincoln Ave., Mayor Smith suggested that a "complete" road not be built this summer.

Consultant engineers, Harold B. Husted and Harold R. Carle of Youngstown, who met with the board last week, estimated the complete road will cost $50,000.

Board members agreed that it would be more practical "to build" the street over a period of time, using layers of chip and asphalt, until the road bed, which contains much fill dirt, has time to settle.

The new school is expected to be finished and ready for occupancy when the fall term opens Sept. 3.

In an effort to conserve funds, the school board also is considering the planting of multiflora rose hedge along the eastern school property line to separate the school yard from N. Union Ave. residences. This hedge could be planted at one-tenth the cost of a wire fence, it was suggested.

School Business Manager Darrell Fadely was instructed to check into the merits of the multiflora rose.

No discussion was held on the paving of E. Sixth St. extension past the front of the new high school.

To Buy Desks, Chairs
Mr. Fadely also was directed to proceed with informal bidding for the desks and chairs for use in the Senior High school. It was agreed to purchase the type of chair and desk which the students and teachers selected in the poll conducted earlier this year.

In other action taken by the board last night it was approved that a fire hydrant should be located at the north side of the new high school building for adequate fire protection.

The board will pay for all material and labor at a cost amounting to approximately $1,675. The water line will lead in from the 9th St. line across a privately owned lot for a distance of 668 feet. A right-of-way agreement will be drawn up with the property owner.

Black-topping the drive and play area behind Prospect School was approved with the work to begin as soon as school is out. The con-

Columbiana Plant Opens New Offices

The Russell Co., consolidated its executive and general offices at the Columbiana plant site on the Columbiana-Leetonia Road last January.

The new building housing the offices contains over 20,000 square feet of floor space and also encloses engineering and laboratory departments.

About 100 persons are employed in the offices and engineering and laboratory departments.

Yesterday's program marked the beginning of a three-day public open house.

Columbiana Mayor Erwood Calvin officiated at the ribbon-cutting ceremonies which concluded yesterday's program and started the open house tours.

The Legion and VFW color guards raised the colors on a flag pole and the Columbiana High School band played.

Paul C. McCormick, director of public relations for the Russell Co., served as master of ceremonies. Other company officials and guests were introduced.

Salan Called By De Gaulle

French Leader Turns Attention to Algeria

PARIS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle, armed with all the broad powers he demanded of Parliament, turned his attention today to Algeria and the army running it in his name.

De Gaulle summoned Gen. Raoul Salan, the French troop commander, from Algiers for consultation. Salan has been ruling Algeria openly in the name of the rebellious French there. An escort waiting at the airport whisked him off to see De Gaulle.

After thus asserting his authority over the army, De Gaulle called in Robert Lacoste, resident minister in Algeria who has a big following among the rebellious French colonists there. De Gaulle will go to Algeria Wednesday.

George Klinkus 'Living Gag' 'Non-Existent Student' Wed on School Campus

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A formal military wedding on the Jordan High School campus has united George Osgood Klinkus and a pretty sophomore coed.

George, probably the best known student in the school, wore a mask. The ceremony concluded, the young couple marched under a bridge of crossed sabers in the best military tradition.

There was no honeymoon. There never will be. Actually, George Osgood Klinkus doesn't exist. He's a living gag on the Jordan campus.

He was enrolled more than a year ago. The administration may not like him, and certain faculty members have fallen prey to the conspiracy involved, but George is officially tolerated in the interest of student morale.

George has taken some of the standardized examinations. What really happened? A student filled out an extra exam paper for George. Sometimes, ironically enough, George's test grade was better than his proxy's.

The nonexistent George has a complete set of records in the office of the registrar. Once he was expelled for smoking. It was hard to convince some teachers that George really doesn't exist. They had seen his name on the absence rolls from time to time.

3 Burn Auto To Collect Insurance

Two East Palestine men and one from Beaver Falls, Pa., were bound over to the grand jury on $1,000 bonds each Monday after pleading guilty at a hearing before Mayor Harold Smith to charges of burning an automobile to collect insurance.

The men: Donald H. Robb, 21, and James F. Robb, 22, of East Palestine, and Eugene Biser, 27, of Beaver Falls, set fire to Biser's auto on the Negley-Peace Valley Road midway between Negley and New Waterford early Monday morning, state highway patrolmen reported.

Patrolmen said the men sought to collect $1,000 from the Nationwide Insurance Co.

Clifford Smith of RD 1, Negley, discovered the car on fire and reported it to patrolmen.

Upon investigation at the scene of the fire, patrolmen were able to trace the owner.

Police Hunt Murderer of Cleveland Man

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police today delved into the past of Rudolph Kordis, a 60-year-old recluse found beaten to death in his Cleveland home, in an effort to find clues to his slayer.

Kordis was believed slain by a robber. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said Kordis had been struck about 30 times on the head with a blunt instrument. No such instrument was found.

Kordis, a familiar figure on his bicycle in the neighborhood, lived in a house in the back yard of another residence he rented to tenants.

His house had been ransacked and the lower panel in one door had been broken out, police said.

Kordis' body was found lying on the floor Monday morning by his tenants. Mr. and Mrs. George Howe, when they took his mail to him.

Homicide detectives said as far as could be learned, Kordis last was seen alive Friday night. One investigator said he may have been dead 48 hours.

Police said Kordis apparently put up a terrific struggle with his assailant. Blood was spattered on the walls and floor of the living room in the newspaper-littered home.

The mattress on the cot where the victim slept had been ripped apart, apparently in a search for money, and a bloody $20 bill was found on the floor.

"I think whoever did it was badly fooled," said Capt. David E. Kerr, homicide chief. "He came here looking for a lot of money. I don't think he got much."

Two bank books showing deposits as recently as April were discovered among Kordis' disarranged belongings. One showed he had a $3,000 balance at a savings and loan company and the other showed he had several hundred dollars in a bank. The money apparently came from rentals on three other properties Kordis owned besides the one where he lived, investigators said.

Palestine Council Views Fund Deficit

EAST PALESTINE — City Council Monday night approved a 1959 budget in the amount of $68,750 for general expenditures, slightly less than the current budget of $69,350.

Anticipated income from various tax collections, and other sources is only $53,600, leaving a deficit of $15,150. The councilmen discussed operating and income tax levies as a possible means of making up the differences but no definite action was taken.

The council voted a $660 emergency appropriation as the city's share of a highway improvement project on State Route 46, for the distance of 2,970 feet within the city, known as Bacon Ave. Outside the city, Bacon Ave. becomes the East Palestine-New Waterford Road, which also will be improved.

The meeting, held in the city hall, was presided over by Frank Earley, vice president, in the absence of the president, Robert Morris, who has been ill.

Primaries Held By Four States

Biggest Spotlight
Beamed on California

By Associated Press
Four states held primary elections today. The biggest spotlight was beamed on California, where Sen. William F. Knowland faced an important popularity test.

Leaders of both major parties were watching California's Republican and Democratic primaries for governor for signs of trends that might have bearing on the 1960 presidential race.

Knowland, who is giving up his role of Senate Republican leader to seek the governorship, admittedly faced a tough battle for ballots with Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, his Democratic opponent.

Under California's unique cross-filing system, both were listed under Republican and Democratic labels. But it was unlikely that either would score a grand-slam victory.

Other primary races were being held in Montana, South Dakota and Alabama. Three candidates for governor were being chosen along with 2 for the Senate and 34 for House seats. The Alabama primary was of the runoff variety and involved the 2 top vote getters from a field of 14 that were in the original gubernatorial primary May 6.

Dr. William G. Murray, 54-year-old college economics professor, won the Republican nomination for governor in Iowa's primary Monday. He defeated Lt. Gov. William Nicholas, who was seeking the nomination for the third time. Murray will oppose Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless in November. Loveless had no opposition for renomination.

California was being eyed because of one big question: Is there a strong trend toward the Democrats in the state?

California also had primaries for the Senate. Retiring Gov. Goodwin J. Knight was favored to defeat Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco in the GOP primary. Rep. Clair Engle had no opposition on the Democratic side.

Knight, who originally planned to run for governor again, withdrew when Knowland entered the race. But the move shattered party harmony and there were predictions that some Republicans would deny their votes to Knowland in protest.

Montana expected the quietest campaign in years with Sen. Mike Mansfield and Reps. Lee Metcalf and Leroy H. Anderson, all Democrats, favored to win renomination.

Two candidates vied for the GOP nomination to oppose Mansfield. They were Mrs. Blanche Anderson, Helena widow, and Lou

Woman Slain, Mate Held for Questioning

CLEVELAND (AP)—The beaten body of a 47-year-old divorcee was found early today by police in a junk-littered Cleveland home she shared with her common-law husband.

A bloodstained brick was found near the body of Mrs. Rosemary Henage, her face brutally smashed.

Police Lt. Robert Flingold termed the death "definitely a homicide."

The husband, Harry Borton, 51, was jailed for questioning. He had called police and said: "I think my wife is dead."

Police quoted Borton as saying he found his wife lying in a utility room they had shared for four years.

Borton said he last saw Mrs. Henage alive Monday at 3 p.m. The body was found shortly after midnight. He said he awoke from a nap at 8:30 p.m., saw the woman lying on the floor, but "thought she was drunk and went back to sleep," officers related.

Miss von Nardroff Hikes TV Winnings

NEW YORK (AP)—Elfrida von Nardroff Monday night became the all-time high honey winner on television quiz shows.

The 32-year-old Brooklyn woman raised her winnings to $237,500 by defeating two contestants on the NBC show Twenty-one.

The $21,000 she picked up Monday night pushed her ahead of Robert Strom of the Bronx, an 11-year-old science whiz, who amassed $224,000 on two different shows.

Miss von Nardroff's victims were Charles Hewitt, an insurance consultant from New Brunswick, N.J., and Emile Libresco, an industrial relations consultant from Pound Ridge, N. Y. She blanked them both 21-0.

Hewitt didn't know that Andrew Johnson had been military governor of Tennessee and vice president before he became president.

Libresco failed to name poet Edwin Arlington Robinson as the author of "Miniver Cheyney" and failed to identify Prince Rudolph of Hapsburg as the son of Franz Joseph, emperor of Austria-Hungary.

Next week Miss von Nardroff returns to tell whether she'll continue or quit with her $237,500. She recently left her job as a personnel consultant to devote full time to the quiz show business.

Ohio Boy Is Wounded By Kentucky Policeman

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An Ohio boy is in fair condition here after being shot by a Kentucky state policeman.

Sgt. Boyd Kiser said the 15-year-old apparently was hit by a ricocheting bullet as he and three others in a car tried to run down the patrolman at a roadblock Monday night.

The others who were caught are 14, 15, and 16, police said. The four said they are from Ironton and Plain City, Ohio. Police said they admitted stealing the car at Delaware, Ohio.

Police set up the roadblock on U.S. 23 four miles north of here after a service station reported the boys drove away without paying for gas. After running the roadblock, the four tried to abandon the car and were picked up.

They are charged with attempted assault with a motor vehicle and interstate transportation of a stolen car.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Firemen looking for one body in rain-swollen Doan Creek Monday night found two.

The coroner's office said a search was being made for Nathaniel Toldd, about 6, who had fallen into the creek, when the body of a man was recovered. The boy's body was found nearby a short time later.

The man was identified by relatives as Fatius Papataiau, 34, who had been missing since the truck in which he was riding plunged into the creek Sunday night. His body was found about a quarter-mile downstream from where the truck went into the water.

Listing of New Books at Salem Public Library

There is something nostalgic about the sight of a covered bridge on a quiet, country road. A new book at the Salem Public Library, "Covered Bridges of the Northeast" by R. S. Allen recaptures a sense of tranquility in a subtle blend of photographs, fact and fiction.

A. J. Cronin's "Northern Light" will be welcomed by his many readers. It is the story of a newspaper owner suddenly forced by unscrupulous competition by a rival paper, written in the incomparable Cronin style.

By FAYE HENLE

Here is something bound to be called to your attention. The demand for personal loans is increasing.

By a personal loan we mean sums of money borrowed for a wide range of purposes, for improvements to your home, money needed to pay off a sticky pile of bills too long deferred, insurance premiums, taxes.

Perhaps it is money borrowed to use on a vacation — or to play the horses!

It is not installment credit, money borrowed when you buy from an automobile or appliance dealer, even department store time payments.

NOW THAT WE understand what we are talking about what conclusions can we draw from the fact that personal loans are rising? Talk with bankers and you will be amazed. They insist the recession is hardly responsible — although at least one well known economist has cited this as a prime factor.

For one thing, say the bankers, while personal loans are on the increase, the demand for such credit in recent months has actually been leveling off compared with a year ago. More important, they point out, they would not be likely to lend money to someone unless they were pretty sure of repayment.

They ask collateral on such loans. Collateral means evidence that if the borrower fails to repay, the bank can collect because of something the borrower owns, something tangible like savings, securities, a house.

Many people actually offer their savings account books as collateral.

Why then don't these people withdraw the savings money instead and spend it?

AMERICA, more and more, is geared to living on credit. Many of us demand the security of savings plus the enjoyment of goods and services. Many of us have little fear today of our ability to repay loans. (Others of us are making repayments currently at a faster pace so that our financial affairs might be in tip-top shape should the economic tides get stormier.)

Many people actually borrow money in order to force themselves to save.

Are the reasons offered for making a personal loan very different today than they were last year or in 1957?

Thus far, the bankers tell us, it is hard to spot a conclusive trend. Yet, these factors loom:

In areas blighted by unemployment more people are offering consolidation of debt as their reason for seeking a loan and more people are refinancing existing loans. This means they are seeking longer periods before repayment is due so that each payable installment might be smaller.

EVERYWHERE that we have checked there is a greater than seasonal demand for money to be used for home improvements, repairs and furnishings. People are borrowing to build patios and swimming pools in this recession year.

Almost without exception loans for automobile purchases have been running at lower levels than a year ago.

One banker cited a decline in loans for consolidation of debt or "personal needs" and a pickup in loans to meet tuition bills, tax payments and medical obligations.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Baldness Is Still Incurable

If I knew of any good way to prevent baldness I should try it myself. Nevertheless, I receive many inquiries on this subject and it is worth a little discussion.

Mrs. D. writes that she has recently had a baby and finds that since then her hair has begun to fall out considerably. She asks whether this is a vitamin deficiency or something natural after childbirth.

This type of falling hair is not unusual. I do not know that anyone understands exactly why it should occur occasionally following childbirth or a serious illness, but it does happen.

As a general rule, however, the hair grows back completely. I can remember a girl in high school who developed typhoid fever, lost just about all her hair, and then grew back a beautiful crop of auburn hair.

Another kind of question on baldness comes from Mrs. K., who says that her 19-year-old son is losing his hair. She said the hair started to get thin and fall out soon after he started college.

Smith of Leetonia, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kornbau of Lisbon RD., and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kornbau of Wellsville. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kornbau Sr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Clarence Barnes of Leetonia.

Mrs. Olive Wolfgang of Leetonia was a guest when Mr. and Mrs. Merle Linn entertained at a dinner Sunday honoring the birthday of their son Bobby.

Mrs. Minnie Denner of Youngstown and Mrs. Margaret Speer were supper guests in the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stouffer.

The Salem and Perry Township Group Meeting was held Wednesday in the Washingtonville Methodist Church with Mrs. Homer Ferguson and Mrs. Ralph Coe of Leetonia RD. showing how to alter and fit patterns.

Mrs. Virgil Whinnery showed a picture window frames. The business session was in charge of the president Mrs. J. Van Blaricom.

The group decided not to hold meetings during the summer months until the third Wednesday in September. Election of officers was held as follows: President, Mrs. Virgil Whinnery of Franklin Ave. Salem; vice president, Mrs. Edgar Sommers Leetonia RD.; secretary, Mrs. Ivan Harold, Leetonia RD.; treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Ikert, Leetonia; publicity chairman, Mrs. Norman Kornbau who is to inquire about and arrange for a tour in August or September.

Miss Shirley Stouffer returned to her home in Dallas, Texas Tuesday after spending several days in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stouffer, having been called home by the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Geiger.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kornbau have received word that their son, Pfc. Harry Kornbau and a buddy, who are stationed at Darnstadt, Germany, motorcycled to Amsterdam Holland, to see the tulips in bloom and attended the World's Fair in Belgium while on a furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Onigkeit of Mayfield Heights and Miss Amy King of Washington, D.C., and Mr. and Mrs. John King and daughter Judith were recent guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George King.

College often has its problems, but can hardly be considered responsible for this premature balding. In all likelihood this early loss of hair is familial and there are probably some members of the family — perhaps a long way back — who showed the same tendency.

In the usual kind of baldness of the family type it is most common for the hairline over the temples to recede gradually and then for the hair to become thin at the crown.

Local disorders may speed the loss of hair, dandruff, or seborrhea, is among these influences. Therefore if any such condition is present, treatment of the local condition and massage of the scalp aimed at stimulating the circulation may delay (though not stop) the gradual loss of hair.

So-called "cures" for baldness, range all the way from singeing the hair "to keep the juice from running out" (and, incidentally the hair is not hollow), to costly instruments for "massaging" the scalp or producing some other marvelous effect on hair growth.

Although claims are made for many "hair restorers," there are too many failures from any form of treatment to justify the belief that there is a sure prevention or cure.

The claim that a person has developed a remedy for the control or cure of baldness, or that he has inherited a formula for a remedy, or that he has accidentally discovered a sure cure, should be viewed with suspicion.

Sunday Laws Should Not Be Funny

The possibility that Ohio's Sunday "prohibitions" may get to the U.S. Supreme Court in a review of a case concerning Sunday sales of merchandise sharpens the need for revision of this section of the Ohio code.

Sunday laws should not be funny, and some of the archaic ones are funny. One says no person over 14 shall engage in sporting rioting, quarreling, hunting, fishing or shooting on Sunday. Another says it is illegal to perform juggling, rope dancing, or to be a living statue on Sunday morning.

There is an Ohio law that says toll-gate tenders and ferrymen cannot work at their trade on Sunday. Every Ohio householder who puts around the premises on Sunday is technically in violation of a law that says it is illegal if over 14 years of age to engage in common labor for any reason other than necessity or charity.

Then there is the Sunday prohibition against opening a place of business or requiring an employee to engage in common labor, except in cases where the sabbath is observed on another day. This is the section that may go to the Supreme Court for review, following an Ohio Supreme Court refusal to reconsider its previous decision upholding the law's constitutionality in a business-banning case.

There is a strong case to be made against wholesale return to the one-time practice of keeping places of business open day in and day out, seven days a week from dawn to dark — and even longer. If the case is going to be made in Ohio, however, it should be made with a modern law adopted by a modern legislature for a modern purpose. Nothing is more ridiculous than the application of ancient laws to modern circumstances.

With Memorial Day at hand, for example, how many Ohioans know it is illegal to play a public game within one mile of a speaker's stand during the rendition of a program? Sect. 3773.20 Revised Code of Ohio says so and the penalty is not more than $25.

Have Bats, Will Travel

There must have been a ghostly snicker in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., when Walter O'Malley let it be known his Los Angeles Dodgers were slumping because local voters might turn down the deal for a suitable ball park. The slump has carried them to last place in the National League.

Even in the bleakest days back at Ebbetts Field in Brooklyn, it never occurred to anyone to blame a losing streak on the mood of the local citizenry. But perhaps the hard-bitten financial realism of the financially astute Mr. O'Malley has begun to rib on his pitchers and hitters.

They would have to be callous to the facts of the baseball business, indeed, not to grasp the implications of a threat to pull out of Los Angeles if the voters fail to give them the land for a suitable stadium. It is unlikely now that Brooklyn would take them back, because hell hath no fury like a Brooklynite scorned.

It is further unlikely that any other city would turn itself inside out to bid for their presence if it were only a fleeting thing of the moment. There would be left only the remote possibility of doing what sometimes has been suggested for other baseball clubs in search of greener pastures.

That would be to become like the Harlem Globetrotters, the basketball experts whose services are available anywhere on earth. The Dodgers could play all their games on the road, needing no multi-million-dollar place to call home — nothing but a bat rack to be set up in business.

Sport Fit For a King

The Salem Polo Club, which has a long list of faithful followers dating from the club's inception back in the early thirties, could add several hundred more admirers of the fast sport if the public would just take advantage of the exciting polo games which are being played here this summer.

The poloists chalked up two victories to open the season during Memorial Day weekend and nine more home games are on schedule, the next on Sunday afternoon at the Ellsworth Road field. A successful season looms ahead.

If you haven't seen a polo game it would be well worth the effort to watch the club in action. The ponies are fast and the players are adept at swinging the willows.

It's just too doggone bad how high prices are making young couples do without things their parents never had.

Once Over

Russia is having its first TV commercials. This is a Free World break-through for vitamins and box-tops. It can be Khrushchev's first real strength test as showing whether he will stand for interruptions of a Russian folk play by a sales pitch for detergents, lipstick, floor wax, etc.

It would be interesting to be looking in when Nikita is absorbed in a Moscow "Have Sputnik; Will Travel" and hear a voice blare, "You can't get anywhere today if your hair is dry and stringy," or "Do some people avoid you? You need a breath sweetener."

WAIT UNTIL Malenkov hears a commercial proclaiming "Four out of five doctors say when you feel low and insecure the feeling can vanish overnight if you take a good tonic." And what about Zhukov's reaction to "The right saving cream can be the difference between success and failure?" How about Molotov when he hears his TV declare, "Yes, what you need is travel!"

THE QUESTION is whether Presidium will itself use commercials to sell the Soviet line, with Khrushchev hammering home messages to the Russian people, "Go to your bookstore now and get this wonderful volume on Soviet wonders — OR ELSE," and "Try my latest program for muscle building . . . THIS is an ORDER!"

"THE DECISION" to permit the Dodgers to leave great City of New York, where they had enjoyed unusually good attendance for years, was not easily arrived at. —Warren Giles. Wann: bet?

One hundred cowboys with steers and horses are on their way to the Brussels World Fair. This is one way to emphasize Western influence. It could lead to a cultural exchange of men who don't bruise easily.

Serious Trouble

Democratic Party's Dilemma

By PETER EDSON

Of some 15 Democrats whose names are being kicked around in early speculation on 1960 presidential and vice presidential nominations, not one stands head and shoulders above all others.

Every one has some good points — and some serious drawbacks. That's the Democratic party's dilemma today.

Most of the candidates themselves would probably concede that ex-Gov. Adlai Stevenson still has more on the ball than any of them. Having run twice and lost twice, he has said that he is through. But he can't be scratched yet.

In Gallup polls, Stevenson has consistently been ahead of Vice President Nixon, although Nixon's percentage is rising. Adlai's trouble was less popularity than Ike's.

GOV. AVERELL HARRIMAN of New York is 69 now and will be 71 two years from now. But his backers are confident that come 1960 Harriman will be in there and running hard — if he is re-elected governor this November.

Orthodox New and Fair Dealers look on Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams as the younger Democrat who most closely stands for the principles of the northern wing of the party. The catch is that southerners consider Williams too closely allied with Walter Reuther and too much of a civil rights man to carry the South.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey looks like presidential material, but there are two strikes against him. He has had no foreign experience. He was born to a Catholic family but he has not been a practicing Catholic in recent years.

FOUR OTHER DEMOCRATIC governors are in the early book, but are not taken too seriously. The terms of all expire at the end of this year. They must be re-elected or win some other office to remain in the public eye.

Gov. Albert Benjamin Chandler of Kentucky and Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee both had the presidential bug bad in 1956, though few other people understood why.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota and Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania are successful young Democratic executives on whom the party pins great hopes.

TWO NEWCOMERS in governorship races this year will also bear watching. They are Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh and California Attorney General Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

There are at least five U.S. senators who are not averse to being struck by presidential lightning. Democratic Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas has had a heart attack and says he is not a candidate. His success as a legislative manipulator gives him standing. But he has little appeal to northern Democrats. And his recent major speech to American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington fell flat.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, like Governor Williams of Minnesota, is too closely affiliated with Americans for Democratic Action to suit the South. A former professor of political science, his executive experience is confined to four years as mayor of Minneapolis.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee hasn't shown up in the polls this past year as well as he did in 1952 and 1956. There's a consensus that he has had his chances and should retire, lie Stevenson. But a man with presidential ambitions never really gets over them completely.

AND SO, BY THE process of elimination, the talk comes round to Sen. John Fitzgerald Kennedy of Massachusetts. He will be 41 on May 29. The big question mark, of course, is Kennedy's position as a Catholic.

In Gallup polls during the past year, he has shown increasing strength. Last February he led Kefauver 61 to 39 per cent and he led Nixon 49 per cent to 38.

Kennedy's immediate problem is to be re-elected senator in November and pile up a great big majority.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri has the same problem. Handicapped by the lot and experienced in both executive and legislative branches of government after a successful business career, Symington today is seen as being in the most favorable position as a border state compromise candidate. His great drawback is that, like Lyndon Johnson, he doesn't make an appealing speech or warm up a crowd.

SIDE GLANCES

"I left the car at the garage, dear—I'm getting you a nice new shiny fender for your birthday!"

Equitable Taxes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Sooner Or Later, System Must Be Revised

Most members of Congress would like to see a tax cut made. But certain legislative and political obstacles will have to be surmounted before this can happen.

The Democrats, for the most part, are willing to go along with the administration's request that no "general tax cut" be tacked on to the bill that has to be passed by June 30. This is the measure that would continue the existing rates on corporation incomes and on the sale of articles on which excise taxes are imposed.

Action on this bill doesn't preclude another battle on tax legislation later in the session. Nor is the passage before June 30 of the pending bill without some amendments absolutely sure yet.

The big argument that will be made against all amendments is that since the Senate Finance Committee will not have approved any cuts, the Senate as a whole should not try to write a tax bill on the floor. It will be insisted that, just as in the case of broad labor legislation recently, a bill that hasn't been studied by the committee in charge should go back to it for hearings and further examination and hence amendments on the floor should be tabled.

But between June 30 and the middle of August when Congress is expected to adjourn, the heat will be on to do something on the tax problem.

The administration has expressed a deep interest in legislation to help small business men. The pressure for reduction of excise taxes will be renewed no matter what tax bill comes up for debate.

If the business situation shows little improvement, members of Congress will manifest considerable interest in tax legislation during July.

JUST HOW, it is being asked, was the administration able to ward off any opposition by the Democratic leaders of the Senate and House to the proposal that there be no change in existing tax rates on excises and corporations and no tax cut in the other categories?

Why did the Democrats go along with the administration's plan?

The answer is that once the line is broken and a concession is made, for instance, in one article on the list, the demand for similar treatment would come from all other groups. The congressman from Massachusetts, for instance, may not have as many voters in the automobile category as the congressman from Michigan, but the Massachusetts representative does have them in the plants that manufacture other articles on which a reduction in excise taxes is being urged as a stimulus to employment.

Finally it came down to the simple proposition that if the doors were opened to one concession on excise taxes, it would mean that there would have to be concessions granted all along the line.

The point was made, too, in the conferences between the administration spokesmen and the leaders in Congress that with a three-billion-dollar deficit this fiscal year and a deficit of more than eight billions anticipated for the next fiscal year, it would be dangerous further to curtail federal tax receipts.

BUT WHAT becomes of the doctrine that tax reductions would add to purchasing power and that this could help to restore employment?

The administration's answer is that a bigger deficit in the Treasury would bring on an inflation and impair the dollar's purchasing power.

Why, however, did the Democrats accept that argument inasmuch as since New Deal days they have argued the other way? The reason is that the southern Democrats who are the leaders in Congress today don't think like New Dealers and are concerned with a sound and stable economy.

From a political point of view, the northern Democrats—who will put up a fight for amendments to the tax bill that comes up for passage before June 30—will continue to try to make political capital out of the administration's position and they will not be too much bothered by what their southern conservative brethren have done.

POLITICALLY speaking, the natural tactics of the Democrats in the North will be to say on the stump in the forthcoming congressional campaign that the Republicans are responsible for the "recession" and have failed to provide tax relief and more purchasing power.

The Republicans will make their rebuttal with arguments about the dangers of runaway spending and inflation that could diminish purchasing power, especially for those persons living on fixed incomes.

The truth is everybody knows the treasury can't stand any immediate cuts of substantial size in tax revenues but the truth also is that sooner or later a start has to be made on an equitable revision of the tax structure.

There is no reason why it shouldn't be begun in the current session of Congress and the way paved for early action next year, especially if business improvement by that time has begun to be widely felt.

Bigger Than Politics

By TRUMAN TWILL

Generalizations about Frenchmen have been a favorite sport of writers and speakers for so long the quotation books are full of them.

Samuel Johnson said: "The French are a gross, ill-bred, untaught people; a lady there will spit on the floor and rub it with her foot."

Napoleon I said: "The French have vanity, levity, independence and caprice, with an unconquerable passion for glory. They will as soon do without bread as without glory."

Henry Cabot Lodge said: "French ignorance is often more amusing than the wisdom of other people."

Otto von Bismarck said: "The French are irreconcilable, savage foes; and if you strip them of the cook, the tailor and the hairdresser, you will find nothing left in them but copper-skinned Indians."

Lord Chesterfield said: "Frenchman who, with a fund of virtue, learning and good sense, has the manners and good breeding of his country, is the perfection of human nature."

Our own Washington Irving said France was "a nation of right merry fellows, possessing the true secret of being happy, which is nothing more than thinking of nothing, talking about anything and laughing at everything."

Machiavelli said: "The French are naturally more fierce and hot than dexterous and strong, and if resisted handsomely in their first charge they slacken and cool, and grow as timorous as women. They are likewise impatient of distress or incommmodity, and grow so careless by degrees that it is no hard matter, finding them in disorder, to master and overcome them."

So much for illogical generalizations about the French.

At this moment, when they are in the throes of government trouble again, there is another generalization that anyone can make—that the French are less concerned with the pulling and hauling of their politicians and the muscle-flexing of their militarists than outsiders who are discussing the crisis in France.

This is not because Frenchmen are Frenchmen, but because they are human beings with the problems of the human race, one of which is the problem of finding a government that can pull itself together a little faster than it flies apart.

Herewith is an offer to wager the Arc de Triomphe against a cast-off crepes suzette that nine out of 10 Frenchmen are more interested right now in making the best disposition they can of their own lives than in lining up pro and con on issues of government they find both tedious and boring.

We'll bet the French boys and girls are still boying and girling in all the beauty spots of France, that the tillers of the soil are more interested in their crops than in the goings and comings of little men who misrepresent them in government and that in the villages and towns of France life is going on as usual while politicians bicker andicker over their public positions.

We'll bet and give odds that the ordinary run of Frenchmen, if they could see what is being written about their country abroad, would murmur, "L'azzat so?" in French accents and go about their business as usual.

Or as David Hume said it: "The French are the only people, except the Greeks, who have been at once philosophers, poets, orators, historians, painter, architects sculptors and musicians."

The French may be the first people in modern times to have realized that everything they do is bigger than politics.

So They Say

If they like something, they absolutely go crazy, and if they don't like it they tell you so.

Bragan To Rely on "Old Pros" In Tribe's Lineup

Geiger, Moran New Utility Men

Indians Open Series With Boston Tonight

BOSTON (P)—Manager Bobby Bragan is through experimenting with the Cleveland infield and will rely on the old pros from now on.

Bragan and General Manager Frank Lane agreed before the Indians left Kansas City, where the Tribe lost three of four games, that youngsters Billy Moran and Gary Geiger would be relegated to utility roles.

"Geiger and Moran are both fine prospects," Lane said, "but it's questionable whether they are ready for major league competition. They may be in over their heads."

Moran at second base and Geiger, who was given a try at third, made costly errors in the series at Kansas City.

Bragan said his infield for the opener of a three-game series against the Red Sox here tonight will consist of Mickey Vernon at first base, Bob Avila at second, Billy Harrell at shortstop and Chico Carrasquel at third. Harrell is the only youngster in the quartet. Veteran Preston Ward is available to relieve Vernon or Carrasquel.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, the Indians' 22-year-old rookie right-hander, will be on the mound, with Tom Brewer opposing him. Grant, seeking his fifth victory in seven decisions, has been knocked out in four innings or less in his last two starts.

Bragan said he had planned to start southpaw Dick Tomanek in the series opener here, but explained he changed his mind after seeing the left field wall at Fenway Park.

Ray Narleski is slated to pitch Wednesday and Gary Bell, a 21-year-old right-hander called up from San Diego last week, will start in the series finale Thursday. Bell pitched three innings in relief against Kansas City Sunday in his first major league performance and struck out six batters.

Baltimore's Harshman Loses Fourth Game In Succession

By Associated Press
Jack Harshman, Baltimore's big left-hander, is the only pitcher in the American League with six consecutive complete games at the moment—yet he's lost four in a row, half of 'em because of unearned runs.

The corseted southpaw (he has a bad back) who won his first five decisions, was knocked off again Monday night at Baltimore when the Washington Senators scored an unearned run in the 10th for a 2-1 decision. That dropped Harshman's record to 5-4 and plunked the Orioles back into the cellar while the Senators tied idle Detroit for sixth.

A southpaw with a streak also figured in the only other American League game scheduled Monday night, with Whitey Ford tying an AL record with six consecutive strikeouts while winning his fifth straight and his first shutout in two years as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0.

It was the third straight success for the Yankees, upping their lead to seven games over Kansas City, while dumping the Sox to fourth and extending their scoreless inning string to 22.

Cincinnati whipped Pittsburgh 8-2 in the only National League game scheduled.

Roy Sievers, cracking Goose Goslin's all-time Washington home run record of 127, tagged Harshman for his eighth home of the season in the fourth.

Harshman gave up seven hits and walked three while striking out 11—matching New York's Bob Turley for the AL strikeout lead with 3.

Three home runs, two by Hank Bauer and the other by Mickey Mantle, gave Ford all the edge he needed while winning his fourth in a row from the White Sox since last July. Whitey gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 10 for a 6-2 record with his first shutout since May 28, 1956.

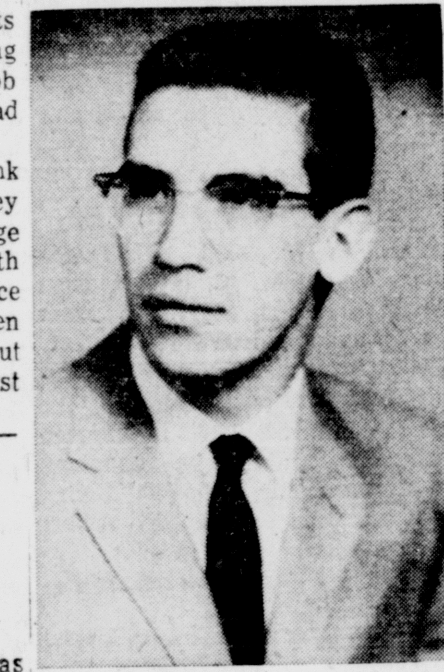

Home Furniture Wins Over Select Dairy 5-4

Two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning gave Home Furniture a 5-4 win over Select Dairies in a Class H Junior Baseball League game played Monday night at Memorial Park.

Home Furniture led 3-0 only to fall behind 4-3 going into the last of the fourth. However, the victors pushed across two tallies in their half of the fourth to seal the verdict.

Royal had three hits for the winners who totaled six raps. Select Dairies had two hits.

OSU Student Leads In Golf Tournament

By The Associated Press

An 18-year-old Ohio State University freshman, Jack Nicklaus, leads Ohio's 11 qualifiers into the National Open Golf Tournament June 12-14 at Tulsa, Okla.

Nicklaus, from the Columbus suburb of Upper Arlington toured two Cincinnati courses under par Monday. He turned in a 66 on Maketewah Country Club's 6,657-yard course and a 70 at Cloverbrook Club's 6,514-yard layout for a 136. Both are 72 par.

Nine pros and one other amateur joined the ex-high school star.

The other amateur is Mark McCormack, 27-year-old attorney who recently joined Oakwood Country Club in Cleveland. He qualified there with a 148 on the 72 par, 6,700-yard course.

McCormack's 148 was tied by the three other qualifiers at Cleveland—Bob Toski of South Miami, Fla., the country's leading money winner in 1954; Bob Hamrich, pro at Fremont Country Club, and George Bigham, assistant pro at Oakwood.

At Cincinnati, Nicklaus was joined by Pat Schwab of Dayton (138), Joett Brown of Cincinnati (140), Joe Campbell of Fountain City, Tenn. (141), Frank Strahan of Toledo (143) and Sam Drake of Richmond, Ind., and Tom Ritter of Wyoming, Ohio (both 144).

Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., a Walker Cupper, qualified as an alternate at Cincinnati with a 72-72-144, and Dave Ogilvie Jr. of Cleveland had 74-76-150 to become an alternate for that area. Among those who didn't make it was Don Essig III of Indianapolis, 1957 National Public Links champion.

Other alternate qualifiers are: At Cincinnati, Bob Davis of Cincinnati (144), Jack Radcliffe of Huntington, W. Va. (144), Al Atkins of Ashland, Ky. (145) and Ellis Brown of Indianapolis (146).

At Cleveland, Joseph Dodich of Newark and three Clevelanders, Leslie Brownlee, H. D. Paddock Jr. and Dick Neuman, all with 151s.

Cherished Myth

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The stars will never look the same to us again.

In troubled times in the past a man has always been able to walk out into the night, turn his face skyward to the stars and tell himself, "Up there is quiet, peace, serenity." Somehow, in his own loneliness, the lonely sky has always comforted him.

But never again—never, never, never!

Dr. Harlow Shapley, retired director of the Harvard College Observatory has destroyed forever our cherished myth that the sky was either lonely or serene.

Lonely? Why it turns out that the heaven is more crowded than a ball park during a free Sunday double header.

Dr. Shapley, who rates the earth as a lowly mudball circling around a third rate star—our sun—estimates there may be 100 quintillion stars in the known universe.

But, hold on. There's worse to come. Man has long speculated there may be forms of life on one or two of our neighboring planets.

This is a piker's view to Dr. Shapley. He figures that if even only one out of every trillion stars in the universe has conditions roughly similar to those of our sun, then there may be 100 million planetary systems with life on them.

We don't know how this possibility affects you, but we do know how it has affected us. Ever since reading Dr. Shapley's estimate we have been dreaming, not of seeing flying saucers, but whole flying pantries.

The heavens may house vaster griefs than any we have known—but may get to know later.

A hundred million different planets may have different kinds of life in a hundred million different stages.

Some may have people such as ourselves, occupying themselves as they whirl through space with such diversions as children, mortgaged, bingo and wars.

Some may have people even more advanced than ourselves, people who have lost the art of locomotion altogether, but developed two eads so they can tinker through their problems better.

Personally when we go out alone at night now here's what we do. We close our eyes, turn up our face, cup our hands to our mouth and holler, "Halloo, up there! Halloo."

So far, we are glad to report, we have had no answer.

But we have lost our old fine feeling of fellowship for the stars. They have become strangers forever.

Orderly Gets Life For Nurse's Murder

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A 21-year-old hospital orderly who pleaded insanity was sentenced to life imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary Monday night for the murder of a student nurse.

A recommendation of mercy by the jury of nine women and three men saved Shirley Edward Campbell from the electric chair.

He was charged with first-degree murder for pushing Miss Sylvesta Andy, 20, from the fifth floor roof of Mercy Hospital here last Jan. 17 after attempting to rape her. Miss Andy, a Negro, a student nurse from Piqua, was a patient at the hospital.

Campbell, who is white, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. But officials at Lima State Hospital ruled he was sane and could tell right from wrong.

The jury in Butler County Common Pleas Court deliberated seven hours. It found Campbell guilty on the first count of the indictment charging murder when attempting to perpetrate rape. It returned no finding on the second count, which charged premeditated murder.

In his closing argument today, Prosecutor Robert Marrs demanded the death penalty for Campbell, calling him "an attempted rapist, a murderer and a cold-blooded killer."

Harvey B. Woods, defense attorney, admitted that "Eddie Campbell did it." But he said the state's case for first-degree murder was circumstantial.

Woods said no appeal would be made.
